

2018 Perioperative Medicine Short Course

Conducted by Monash University (Central Clinical School - Alfred Hospital), in conjunction with the Alfred Hospital's Department of Anaesthesia and Perioperative Medicine

Why you should participate:

Many Clinicians caring for surgical patients are challenged by the growing complexity of these patients, particularly their perioperative management. Pre-admission clinics are responding, and perioperative medicine is becoming an emerging field and Perioperative Medicine Short Course will address deficiencies in this area.
